

After searching for work since Aug 2012, I was recently hired as an appointment setter for system pavers! I had already turned down a great job opportunity in March because the hours they wanted me to work would have kept me from being able to attend church on Sunday. I told them, No! I knew my Father had something better for me!!

At PSA, the position I was offered was a “survey” position and they would have paid me $7.80 an hour. A week before, I was offered the appointment for this setter’s position... it pays $11.00 an hour—plus bonuses!! Who says the economy is bad? God’s economy isn’t! If you’ll honor God, putting Him first, He’ll demonstrate His endless resources available for you!! (Nate Barber)
